Celebrating its tenth anniversary year, the Global Generics & Biosimilars Awards 2023 will take place on Wednesday 25 October in Barcelona, Spain.

Nominations are now open for the Global Generics & Biosimilars Awards 2023, which has today been officially launched by Citeline and will take place on Wednesday 25 October at the Hotel Porta Fira, Barcelona, Spain.

This year marks a milestone for the Awards – which are free to enter and attend – as the event marks its tenth year of recognizing and promoting achievements across the generics, biosimilars, and value-added medicines industries. This year, the Awards are once again supported by our headline sponsor, IQVIA, and supported by International Health Partners and the International Generic and Biosimilar Medicines Association.

The deadline for entries is 4 September 2023, and nominations can cover any activities that took place between 1 August 2022 and 31 August 2023.

ever more people around the world, and after some record years in terms of entries we expect the standard of submissions to be just as high this year.

Spanning 14 different categories, the Global Generics & Biosimilars Awards covers an array of industry activities. This year, we are introducing a new category recognizing promotional campaigns in addition to our 13 other regular categories.

Alongside the global and regional Company of the Year awards – recognizing the world leader as well as top companies in the EMEA, Americas and Asia-Pacific regions – our categories also include Business Development of the Year, Acquisition of the Year and Industry Partner of the Year, while other specific categories also cover Biosimilars and Value Added Medicines. Outstanding achievements in company leadership and corporate social responsibility are also honored during the ceremony.

We look forward to welcoming entrants and attendees alike to the Global Generics & Biosimilars Awards in Barcelona this October, and it is certain that our panel of distinguished judges will have a tougher task than ever in selecting the winners from such a competitive field.
